Newspapers and media regularly cover stories where police are using excessive force, sometimes killing a suspect who has yet to be charged with or convicted of anything. The police and media convince people that police are fighting crazy bad guys all day.

In my experience and in hearing the stories of others I have known over the past 15 years I am speaking out about the truth of the police today. If people fought back against police the way were led to believe they do, there would be a lot of dead police officers. People are generally peaceful except when in emotional or physical crisis.

In fact the opposite is true, most of the time they enforce Acts and Statutes on people who have no idea what they are or how they apply to them, and bully those they arrest into giving statements by delaying or depriving that person due process. Police say anything and do almost anything they can to get you to sign their voluntary contract that creates currency for their department.

They in fact trick people (trickery in contract is Fraud) into signing corporate contracts with out full disclosure, as all forms with charges on the paper are in fact Security Interests and worth money. By signing any police paperwork you give up all human rights, for corporate personhood rights and you are agreeing to be surety (collateral) for the alleged offense. As soon as you sign you are a debtor and liable, so in the sense of money and credit, you are guilty, as debtors have no rights. They of course don't explain any of this, and I doubt most of them have a clue about this underhanded aspect of their job.

If you identify your self as a human being, they can not release you. This is due to all government systems only recognizing body corporates in there computer system. As a human being can not be entered, they can not confirm your identity or that you will show up to court, this is how they can hold you.

Acts and Statutes are not Law, they are only given the force of law to those who consent to contract with said corporation.

Police have been trained to act against the people of a community. They are taught to physically regulate the people with force not compassion. If people claimed their lawful rights, police would once again be peace officers, not corporate act and statute law enforcement on body corporate. (All Canadian citizens are defines as body corporate legally.) Police can only use what you say against you in court, and can not use it to help you. (not impartial)

Legality usurps lawful human rights, in fact it destroys them. I believe government agencies and police officers are public servants and have a duty to use their position to protect people and uphold human rights.

The police at all times should maintain a relationship with the public that gives reality to the historic tradition that the police ARE the public and the public are the police. – You and Your Rights: A Practical Guide for All Canadians (published by CAA with Reader's Digest)

Supreme Court of Canada Allows Suits Against Police for Negligent Investigations
Print Version

10/16/2007
"Recognizing an action for negligent police investigation may assist in responding to failures of the justice system, such as wrongful convictions or institutional racism. The unfortunate reality is that negligent policing has now been recognized as a significant contributing factor to wrongful convictions in Canada."
Chief Justice Beverley McLachlin,
Hill v. Hamilton Wentworth Regional Police Services Board

I believe the system has been corrupted. Government agencies and police who are supposed to uphold human rights now use corporate law to circumvent protocol and enforce legislative rules that are not Common law and should not apply to free human beings. Under Common Law Human Beings can regulate their own law within societies of human beings. Human beings don't need permission to do any Lawful act the government can issue a license for from growing weed, to driving a private automobile, to fishing, hunting etc. A body corporate does how ever. This is the key as this is why you pay income tax, and are so regulated. We were never meant to be corporations, they tricked us all!
